FOREWORD

JAN 29 1941

Previous issues of this directory have carried the title of "Branch Office Directory." It will be noted, however, that the current directory has been issued under the title of "Field Office Directory." This change is brought about by a change in terminology of our various field activities. Administrative Memorandum No. 240, dated June 15, 1940, defines a "Field Office" as "an administrative field entity located at one point and occupying office space out of which the business of the field activity is conducted and in which contacts are handled with members of the trade and others having business with the local unit." Some of these field offices may be operated on a cooperative basis, some on a seasonal basis, and others for a temporary period. All such "Field Offices" are included in the current directory.

Administrative Memorandum No. 240 defines a "Field Station" as "a technical field operating entity that does not maintain or require the occupancy of space, but merely contemplates a point where technical work is conducted." Field Stations are not included in this directory, but a list of cities where field stations, both permanent and temporary are located, is included.

It is proposed to maintain the new Field Office Directory as up to date as possible through the issuance of monthly lists of changes. It is hoped that persons using this directory will make the necessary changes as reported in the monthly lists.

The present official designations of the various Divisions and Sections of the Agricultural Marketing Service are indicated in this issue of the Field Office Directory, as well as the recognized official addresses of our various field offices. The Divisional terminology and official addresses indicated herein shall be used in all official contacts and communications throughout the Service.

U. S. DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE
AGRICULTURAL MARKETING SERVICE

OFFICE OF THE CHIEF

To direct the activities of the Agricultural Marketing Service, including the crop and livestock reporting, market research, and farm products standardization and inspection services; to direct research in standardization and other phases of marketing, and supervise the administration and enforcement of regulatory statutes.

AGRICULTURAL STATISTICS DIVISION

To conduct the crop and livestock reporting service for the United States, issuing current estimates of crop and livestock production, utilization and value, of prices received and paid by farmers, of farm employment and wages, and other farm and marketing statistics.

BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION DIVISION

To direct and coordinate all business management functions, including budget, fiscal, personnel, procurement, and mail and files; as well as certain service activities, including a leased wire system, machine tabulation unit and technological investigations.

COTTON DIVISION

To administer the Cotton Futures and Cotton Standards Acts and the Cotton Quality Statistics and Grading Acts, providing for classification of cotton and furnishing information on market supply, demand, location, condition, and market prices for cotton and cottonseed; to provide a cottonseed inspection service and conduct research in cotton marketing.

DAIRY AND POULTRY DIVISION

To formulate standards; to inspect and grade butter, cheese, eggs and dressed poultry; to issue market reports and conduct research on the marketing of these products.

FRUIT AND VEGETABLE DIVISION

To formulate standards; to certify quality and condition of fruits and vegetables; to issue market reports and conduct research in the marketing of fruits and vegetables; to enforce provisions of Standard Container Acts, Produce Agency Act, Perishable Agricultural Commodities Act and Export Apple and Pear Act.

GRAIN AND SEED DIVISION

To administer U. S. Grain Standards Act and the Federal Seed Act; to conduct grading and inspection of beans, hay, peas, rics and seed; to conduct standardization and market research and demonstration activities; to issue current market reports on these commodities.

INSECTICIDE DIVISION

To enforce the provisions of the Insecticide Act of 1910, designed to prevent the marketing in interstate commerce of misbranded or adulterated insecticides and fungicides, including disinfectants.

LIVESTOCK, MEATS AND WOOL DIVISION

To formulate standards; to conduct a meat grading service at the principal wholesale markets and meat consuming centers of the United States; to issue market reports covering prices for livestock, meats and wool; to conduct demonstration activities.

MARKETING INFORMATION DIVISION

To give timely, adequate, and effective dissemination to material that originates within the Agricultural Marketing Service, and to distribute the information through media best adapted for reaching the public and interested groups.

PACKERS AND STOCKYARDS DIVISION

To administer Packers and Stockyards Act, providing for the regulation of packers, stockyards, commission men and dealers, prohibiting unfair trade practices, and requiring the establishment of fair rates for services rendered by the stockyards and market agencies.

TOBACCO DIVISION

To administer the Tobacco Inspection Act and the Tobacco Stocks and Standards Act, providing for the establishment of classification standards for tobacco and the maintenance of an official tobacco inspection service; to conduct market reporting services on tobacco; to publish quarterly reports of available stocks of leaf tobacco and other tobacco statistics.

WAREHOUSE DIVISION

To administer the U. S. Warehouse Act, providing for the issuance of licenses to warehousemen and requiring the inspection of warehouses, enforcing compliance of applicable laws and regulations in order to maintain integrity of warehouse receipts as collateral.

NAVAL STORES SECTION

To carry out the provisions of the Naval Stores Act; to formulate standards; to inspect and grade shipments of naval stores for interstate commerce; to certify quality and condition of turpentine and rosin.
